Rattigan's Comet' Makes Camden-Atlantic City Trip in 41 Minutes.

> By PAUL H. EGOLF. International News Service

HILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.-Fiftysix and one-half miles in fifty minutes, with a train of twelve steel Pullmans, is the latest regularly scheduled speed record established by the world's speed laboratory-the . Philadelphia-Atlantic City line of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway System. The average speed of the latest "flier" is sixtyseven miles an hour, a world's record far above its nearest competitor.

The "speed laboratory" is a stretch of track rarely found in the railroad world. In places there are long, straight stretches, all curves being un-der 1 per cent, and the grades are negligible. In the run from Blue Anchor to Cologne, N. J., there is a stretch of eighteen miles in a mathematically straight line. Another straight run is seven miles in length. For several years the Atlantic City express has been credited the "fastest train in the world" by the encyclopae dias, with a scheduled speed of sixty-one miles an hour. But that figure was printed before the creation of high-speed locomotives was given special attention.

One of the first attempts in speed line was Engine 348, a product of the Reading shops. Combined with "Mike" Rattigan, a veteran engineer and Dan Devinney, star fireman, she succeeded in lopping a few minutes off the running schedule.

With her performance as a basis. five new engines were recently built, and are now running over the line pulling the crack expresses to Tale of Rattigan's Comet.

So far Engine 120 has captured the title of "Speed Queen," and she works the 5:10 express, in conjunction with old "348." Rattigan personally gave his attention to "120" when she ar-rived fresh from the shops and spent some time "running her in" at slow speeds until her bearings were pol-ished to mirror brightness for highspeed work. Then, one day recently, he "tried her out" on a special train. Tales of that run are still going the Tales of that run are still going the round of the round-house and offices of the company. They tell of blanched faces peering from car windows, while telegraph poles formed a blur at the side of the track—of "Mike" grimly leaning out the cab window, with set teeth, eyes squinted, urging the "big girl" to still more speed, and the huge locomotive shricking in response as she crashed past grade crossings in a fraction of a second. The appearance of the rail filer as it crossed the flats approaching Atlantic City earned it the name of "Rattigan's Comet."

According to the roundhousemen.

When Mike climbed down from the cab and looked at his watch it was just forty-one minutes after he had left the Camden terminal, despite the fact that he had to run slowly through Camden and reduce speed to six miles an hour for the Atlantic City draw-

The average speed for the trip was certain sections "120" had exhibited liking for a, pace well above the undred-miles-an-hour mark. Four More Coming Up.

Having shown what she could do, '120" settled down to her lifework of hauling the shore expresses at a slower rate of speed. The regular scheduled time of the train, fifty minutes, is only approached by a Great Western Railway train, in England, with a schedulde speed of 58.2 miles an hour, and a Great Northern Railway train of the same country, with an average speed of fifty-two miles an hour.

Despite the high velocity of trains which Rattigan operates he trains which Rattigan operates he has never had an accident, or a wreck. His record for being on time is perfect. Also he has never "walked out" on a strike. He and his fireman, Devinney, hold not only the speed record, but the economy record for the Reading system, having made the round trip to Atlantic City on 7,700 pounds of coal.
